The image shows a close-up of a car's infotainment system control panel. The panel is dark grey with a silver-colored trim. It features a central LCD screen displaying a blue crosshair. To the left of the screen are three buttons labeled RADIO, MEDIA, and PHONE. To the right are three buttons labeled DISP, CLOCK, and MENU. Below the screen is a Bluetooth logo and the word "Bluetooth". Further down are two large buttons labeled SEEK TRACK and FOLDER. At the bottom of the panel are two rotary knobs: the left one is labeled "POWER PUSH" and "VOL", and the right one is labeled "FILE" and "TUNE". Between the knobs is a row of buttons labeled FAV, 1 RPT, 2 SHFL, 3, 4, and BACK. Below the main panel, there are two large rotary dials for climate control, a red hazard light button, and a smaller dial with numbers 0, 1, 2, 3, 4.
